

LEEMA GEORGE

WEBDEVELOPER/SEOANALYST

About Myself

I have been passionate about web development and have independently developed both frontend and backend skills. After taking some time to focus on my family, I am ready to return to work and try my skills. I enjoy learning new things, tackling challenges, and staying updated on the latest industry trends. My experience as a housewife has helped me build strong organization and problem-solving skills, and I am excited to bring that experience into a professional setting where I could contribute and grow.
